IDEA Pathways

The transition through and beyond high school can be challenging for students and parents to navigate, particularly if a young person has skills, talents and ways of working that don't fit with the traditional learning and accreditation pathways available through school.

With the right support, you'll find there are many options available to young people who are looking for personalised and meaningful pathways to university, training or employment.

Navigate secondary and post-school pathways with confidence and connect with work and study opportunities that fit your talents, interests and aspirations.

IDEA Pathways offers young people (15 - 21 years) and families a case-managed approach to senior secondary pathways planning, career advice and post-school transition support. We work with young people as they prepare for and transition from school to university, vocational education and training, and employment.

IDEA Pathways

IDEA Pathways has been designed with young people in mind. Our annual subscriptions offer a case-managed approach to career planning and student support, and access to IDEA's wraparound services.

Alternatively, you can create a customised program using Pathways Pay As You Go. Service options include:

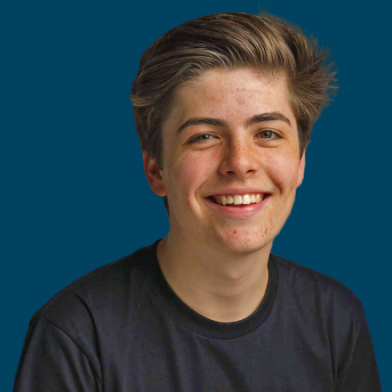

- Pathway planning meetings with an IDEA team member (incl. development of a personalised Pathways Plan)
- Ongoing, on demand support from the IDEA team
- Portfolio development in preparation for post-school transitions
- University, TAFE and private training provider admissions brokering through a range of non-ATAR pathways
- Support accessing apprenticeships and traineeships... and more.

Pathways success story...

"IDEA were instrumental in my early entry to Curtin University. They provided options for me to look into, facilitated key meetings and guided me in the development of my applications with an above-and-beyond approach.

The team at IDEA prioritise understanding you: what makes you tick, what you are great at, what frustrates you and identifying what incredible opportunities are out there that you may be ready to take. They are leading the way for the future of education, where co-design and personalised pathways are the norm."
